The Emotional and Social Needs of the Middle Level Student

Presenter: Susie Girardin

This workshop will help educators better understand and teach nine to fourteen year old students who are growing as rapidly in their emotional and social needs as they are physically morphing into teenagers. This active workshop will focus on creating healthy environments, designing collaborative and cooperative grouping structures, generating tools for reflective writing and feedback, initiate a class governance system, construct a system for teaching positive student relationships, and other tools and strategies to enhance student success throughout their changes.

Date: January 13, 2016

Time: 9:00-3:00

Place: 2 Prospect St
