Presenter: Laura Baker/Jen Patenaude

What is co-teaching? How does this inclusionary model fit within a broader service delivery continuum? What are the most critical factors to be considered to maximize the benefit of combining content expertise and access expertise to meet the needs of a community of diverse learners?

Whether you are new to co-teaching or you're looking for ideas to take your co-teaching to the "next level," this workshop will help to answer these questions and further refine your understanding and implementation of a co-teaching service delivery model. Proven co-teaching principles, approaches and implementation models will be discussed as well as effective strategies for building focused, cohesive, collaborative relationships amongst co-teaching teams.
