

• Good Bones: Structures for Classroom Management and Student Behavior •

Presenter: Sarah Schoolcraft, M.Ed

Target Audience: Classroom teachers, instructional coaches, mentors, special educators, administrators, counselors.

Designed with entry points for novice and veteran teachers, this workshop is constructed around the 5 R's: Relationships, Routines, Rituals, Rules and Reinforcement. Participants will examine their own values as they relate to behavior management; define rules, policies and procedures that will positively impact the process of managing behavior in schools; identify specific strategies and interventions that can be used to increase prosocial behaviors and decrease problem behaviors; and have opportunities to collaborate with other participants. Topics will include student engagement, positive behavior supports, MTSS, lagging skills, and strategies to differentiate instruction and engage learners in order to maximize classroom instruction.

Sarah Schoolcraft, M.Ed., is an instructor in the VT-HEC Special Education program and an assistant principal in a PK-4 school in Waterbury, VT. Sarah has worked as an elementary classroom teacher and special educator, and she has taught at the undergraduate and graduate level. She is passionate about working to meet the needs of all students in inclusive settings. Sarah is an adoptive parent of three amazing children, one of whom has a label of ED, and is married to a fellow educator.
