

• Teletherapy Tips and Tools for Speech-Language Pathologists (SLPs) •

Presenter: Danielle Kent, M.S., CCC-SLP

Intended Audience: Speech language pathologists and speech language pathology assistants (SLPs/SLPAs) working in school-based settings

This webinar will equip SLPs to build teletherapy practices that target instruction and assessment strategies; make best use of online platforms, materials, and resources; and create effective scheduling. SLPs with less technology familiarity will receive guidance on the basics, and SLPs with more advanced understanding of technology will further boost their understanding of available platforms, activities, and resource bases to support intervention. Participants will observe and then practice techniques that increase their knowledge of and comfort with delivering teletherapy services for children on their caseload.

Danielle Kent, M.S., CCC-SLP is a speech-language pathologist located in Central Vermont. She owns a private practice and specializes in social communication and executive functioning development/intervention. She prioritizes connection and co-regulation as two key priorities in supporting children of all ages.
